

Good to Great, p. 20

According to Collins, a Level 5 leader is one who exhibits a combination of strong personal humility and professional will. This top-level leader is incredibly driven and ambitious, maintains a healthy sense of self-awareness, and is able to put the needs of others above their own.